AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

THE ARCHBISHOP ON THE STAND.

WITNESS IN FATHER DENT'S CASE-THE PRIEST CROS'-EXAMINES HISHOP RYAN. Archb'shop Cerrigan and Bishop Ryan were witnesses in the supreme Court yesterday in the suit of the Pev. Francis Dent for reinstatement in the Soclety of Friars Minor of the Order of St. Francis and $50,000 as damages for expulsion. The defence opened its case by saying that the suit was brought against the wrong society. Eishop Ryan, of Buffalo, was called as the first witness. He testified that in 1884 the charges against Father Dent were referred to blm by the Sacrel Congregation of Bishops. He sum-moned Father Dent before him. He offered Father Dent ecclesiastical counsel, but refused to let him have a lawyer. Father Dent objected to appearing, but did appear. He sent all the affidavits against Father Dent to Rome in 1885.

Father Dent cross-examined the Bishop, who admitted that he had threatened to suspend both him and Father Tranquilino if they were not sent away. "You regarded us both as bad men?" asked Father

"I did." said the Bishop. Father Dent asked him if his housekeeper did not go to his room when priests could not go there, and the Rishop denied it. Were you perfectly sober when Sarah White

"Yes, sir," was the response. "Don't you allow gambling in your palace in Judge Cullen thought that this line of examination had gone far enough, and when Father Dent asked, Don't you have a billiard table there?" the judge said, "I don't see any harm in it if he does." Father Dent then asked the Eishop: "Have you ever violated your priestly vows."

Most decidedly I have not," was the emphatic

Archbishop Corrigan was only questioned in regard to his actions in relation to Father Dent's case. He said all the information he had about him was from hearsay. When he was coadjutor to Cardinal McCloskey he wrote a letter based on information from Vicar-General Quinn to Bishop Ryan about Father Dent. There was nothing in the archives of the archdiocese about him. He had no papers under his control such as Father Dent asked him to produce. The trial was not ended.

CHARGED WITH BURNING HER CHILD.

Among the prisoners arraigned yesterday before Justice Goetting in the Lee Avenue Police Court was Charles and Anna Lawrence, colored, of No. 346 South Fourth-st., who were charged by Mrs. Jeanette Stuart and other neighbors with ill-using the woman's fouryear-old child. The woman is the wife of Timothy A. Minard, who is superintendent of St. James's Congregational Color d Mission in Gwienett-st. According to Minard, who was present in court, the woman deserted him to live with Lawrence. She took with her their two children, and some time ago he gained possession of the child Lina, who was, it is alleged, most brutally treated. It is said that the child was frequently burned with a hot fron and her cries of agony could be heard a block away. Lawrence waked for more time to get witnesses, and the case was adjourned until June 19.

HER WEALTHY FATHER SAYS SHE'S A VAGRANT. woman, was arraigned yesterday in the Lee Avenue Police Court on a charge of vagrancy preferred by her father, Frank selbert, a wealthy resident of the Eaststrict, who lives at No. 52 Throop-ave. Mrs. Schultz was married about eighteen months ago and, it is alleged, her husband persuaded her to turn over to him all her money, which amounted to several thousand dollars. Two weeks ago Schultz deserted The desertion preyed greatly upon her, soon she began to show signs of an unbalanced.

On Thursday Mrs. Schultz went to her father's house and made a disturbance. It was then that her father went to the Lee Avenue Police Court and secured Garden warrant for vagrancy. When arraigned yesterday in court she became hysterical and begged her father not to send her away. She called repeatedly for her husband and it took three policemen to keep her from doing herself harm. At the request of the father the case was adjourned until Tuesday.

DISAPPOINTMENTS MADE HIM HANG HIMSELP. George Mann, who lived at No. 611 Halsey-st., and had a handkerchief factory in the rear of his house where he employed thirty hands, committed suicide resterday morning by hanging. He was sixty-seven years old and a successful business man, but his mind had been affected by the grip and by disappointments in business affairs. His home was with his wife, daughter and son-in-law, Frank Wickert. Mr. Mann got up early and when his wife arose she sought him in the factory. Not finding him she went to the street, and there she found her husband's body hang- men $31,700 87."

DEATH OF MRS. SUSAN BARCLAY WARD.

Mrs. Susan Barclay, widow of Montagnie Ward, died from heart failure in Paris on last Sunday, in the seventy-first year of her age. She was descended from old Colonial stock, and her death awakens many reminiscences connected with the early history of New-York. Her great-grandfather, the Rev. Henry Barelay, became rector of Trinity Church in 1748, and his son (her grandfather), Colonel Thomas Barelay, on October 2, 1775, married Susan de Lancey, daughter of Peter de Lancey, of Westchester, and granddaughter of the former Governor, Cadwallader Colden. Mrs. Ward's husband, Montagnie Ward, was of the New-Jersey family of that name, his grand father Thomas Ward, having during two terms-1813 to 1817-represented that State in Congress.

Although Mrs. Ward had lived in Paris during the last twelve years, with her son De Lancey, she relast twelve years, with her son De Lancey, she re-tained a lively interest in her native city and the friends of her youth. She delighted in speaking of the New-York of fifty years are, and often alluded to her pleasure in walking in Battery Park when it was a favorite place of promenade.

During her married life her literary tastes con-stantly drew to her house able writers and talkers. Mrs. Ward's four children sprvive her—three sons, George Barclay, William de Lancey and Beverley, and her daughter, Mrs. Luther Kountze.

We want to clothe you and your boy from head to foot.

It is easy to do it well-will seem so to you anyway; you don't know how we hunted high and low all last winter for the best cloths, the best styles, and the best workmen.

That is how we have got together those serge and Nun's cloth suits, straw hats, russet shoes, negligee shirts, and ties to go with 'em.

Stores open this evening.
